tar. Send up for a Columbus sword, by all means.

"The Cotton King," which lurks in the classic shades of Boston, has made such a successful appeal to the Hub that a No. 2 company is to be sent out. No date has been set for a New York presentation of the melodrama.

The failure of "The Second Mrs. Tanquerey" in 'Frisco was noted in these columns the other day, with a brief hope that Mrs. Kendal would give the Californians a bit of her mind. That is exactly what she has done. Never more will ghe take Willie to the Golding Gate. This was their second visit, and it will certainly be their last. Of Course, it's very sad, but what do the Californians care for Pinero? They have Miss Eleanor Calhoun, who reads "Andromague"—on the original, and the Gillbert and Bullivan operas, with living pictures in them.

John W. Wilson, the California comedian of "Little Christopher Columbus," inds the tramp mantle of Walter Jones, a comfortable fit. His Weary Raggles unique and up-to-date, "What's the atest thing out?" inquires a Midway Plaisance visitor, "Nathan Strauss, I believe," replies the tramp, and the audience shouts. Wilson is an evolution from the song and dance artist, and shared popularity with Billy Emerson, and the late Charley Reed, in San Francisco.
